A DRY-GOODS FIRM ROBBED.

**EXTHORS OF A PORMER EMPLOYE OF ARNOLD, CONSTABLE & CO.

**Arnold, Constable & Co. several years ago employed Cornelius O'Leary as a time boy in their great store at Broadway and Nineteenth-st. The lad grew in favor and in time was promoted to the responsible position of receiving clerk. One of his duties was to receipt for goods delivered by outside persons to Arnold, Constable & Co. This receipt arter being signed by O'Leary was indorsed by W. Moffett, H. J. Teets and Abraham Kerr, through whose hands the goods were supposed to pass. The receipt was then signed by Assistant Cashier Mack. who turned it over to Cashier Seynour, who made out the check and would send it by mail or messenger to the person from whom the goods had been received. The opportunity offered by the careless method of the subsequent indorsers to himself proved too much four years ago he arranged with a woman named Burke a scheme to swindle his employers. A boil of goods valued at several hundred dollars, purporting to come from Mrs. R. Burke, manufacture of ladies' and children's garments at No. 345 East Fifteenth-st., was presented to Cashier Seymour for payment. All the signatures beginning with O'Leary's were upon the bill. The check was sent to the designated number in Fifteenth-st., where it was received by Mrs. Burke.

The scheme worked well and the swindlers lived in luxury on the proceeds of their dishonesty. A number of checks were obtained on these fraudulent bills of goods which bore the signature of the new clerk. He practised on this signature, and then returned the bill of goods to Bell's desk. A few days afterward O'Leary walked into the store, and in the course of a friendly talk with Bell managed to slip into his desk a fraudulent bill of goods which bore the signature of the new clerk. He practised on this signature, and then returned the bill of goods to Bell's desk. AH WUNG LEE BECOMES MR. KATE MURPHE.

Mott-st, was in a ferment of rain and excitement vesterday. The worshippers of the yellow dragon took time by the tail and slung it with so good a result that it knocked all the life out of it and the clocks in the quarter stood still. Ah Wung Lee was going to get married. Mrs. Kate Murphy was also going to enter the hely state of wedlock and her bilious-complexioned admirers were intent upon doing her honor. Kate has been for some mosths the belle of Mott-st. She was a trifle aged, to use racing slang, but she had plenty of go, and with the glances of her big bleared eyes she captivated Ah Wung Lee. When she first came into the drowsy precincts of Mott-st, her hair was a faded yellow, but as some of her friends preferred black her accommodating tresseschanged. When she first met Wung on a picnic he whispered: "Klate I like lellow har," and behold, kate became a blonde. Her willingness to oblige Wung won the unsophisticated Chuannan's heart. He kept a grocery adjacent to Tom Lee's restaurant, and he had accumulated so many "cash" that he began to yearn for a partner. Kate's sole means of support was a venerable and bald-headed scrubbing-brush, but she was buxom, and she had once been wedded to "a Dimmecrat." She had refused the hands and hearts of inany almond-eyed sons of the East, avowing that she would "inver wid a Chinay," but at the picnic she saw Wung Lee eating sansages with a fork, and hisevident culture and familiarity with civilization set her callow heart allame. It is said that she rented a room opposite Wung's grocery store shortly after the first interchange of love, and sat through the melancholy eve making months and winking at him. This continued until Wang could stand it no longer, and in a fit of desperation he proposed. AH WUNG LEE BECOMES MR. KATE MURPHE. nesday. Eugene T. Lynch, president of that company said yesterday:

We erected our poles and wires under State authority and spent a vast amount of money in perfecting our system, now extending 200 miles. The law provides no texal means by which the companies can associate to put down a comprehensive system. In Washington and some cities in Europe, electric currents have been run under ground for a short time; but, however well it may work for the telegraph, I say that it would be impossible to furnish a current for our lights by underground conduction. Until a thoroughly perfected system of insulation and underground conductors have been found all attempts will be furtile. Capital will not emeark until it has been tested and proved that underground is as cheap and effective a system as the aerial. One argument used before the examiner in opposition to the bill was that telephone and telegraph wires outnumber the electric light wires in this city 200 to 1. If everything were ready and a perfected system had been found, the electric light wires could not be grounded under three years, and the other systems not short of dre years. The only thing asserted by the opponents of the aerial system is that it is unsightly. New-York has a fire alarm system, which is being extended. If the wires are a nuisance, why do not the authorities abuse their own nuisance and put their own wires under ground!

THE SINKING FUND COMMISSION.

THE SINKING FUND COMMISSION.

The Sinking Fund Commissioners met yesterd ay and discussed the question of the sale of the franchises of the Staten Island and Bay Ridge ferries. W. W. Macfarland appeared as counsel for Erastus Winan and urged the rental of the franchises for a percentage of the gross receipts. Corporation Counsel Lacombe suggested that the franchises should be sold to the bidder of the highest annual sum, instead of the percentage of the gross or net receipts. He also favored the releasing of the purchaser from the obligation of running the Bay Ridge boats in the winter. The Commissioners resolved to take no action until the inotion obtained by a Mr. Fuller (who is said to represent John H. Starin's interests) in the Supreme Court, restraining the sale of the ferry franchise, should be decided. The Commissioners approved the renewal of the lease of the building occupied by the IXth Judicial Court and the Vth District Police Court at One hundred-and-twenty-fifth-st., near Fourth-ave., for a term of five years, at $8,000 a year. The Controller was empowered to issue a warrant for $500,000, payable from the Sinking Fund for the payment of interest on the city debt.

The boss plumbers and their employes are still at sword's point and both sides state, with an equal share of confidence, that they are certain to win the light. It is hardly probably that any change will occur until after the adjournment of the National Convention of master plumbers. W. H. The afternoon session began with the reading of papers by representatives of the several delegations, followed by the reports of the State vice-presidents. Abraham Mead, of New-York, late chairman of the Excentive Committee, praposed to present a report of the work of the committee prior to his retirement from it, but the chair decided that, having resigned from the committee, he had no right to make the report. A scene of confusion followed, during which Mr. Mead was charged by one of his fellow delegates with being a fraud and recreant to the trust reposed in him. Mr. Lowe, of New-York, defended Mr. Mead, and said he was a plumber, in good standing, before his assailants were born. There was crimination and recrimination, and confusion prevailed until the difficulties in the New-York delegation were referred to a committee of one from each delegation.

IMPROVED METHODS OF TEACHING THEM—ARTICULATION AND LIP-READING.

The convention of teachers of the deaf and dumb by the improved or oral method of instruction, continued its sessions yesterday at the Institution for the Improved Instruction of Deaf Mutes in Lexington-ave, between Sixty-seventh and Sixty-eighthsits. David Greenberger read a paper on "An American System of Teaching Articulation to Deaf Mutes," in which he said: "I have come to the conclusion that the oral method as practised in Germany may be found well adapted for the schools of Holland, Switzerland, Austria and all other European countries, but it will never answer to the requirements of the oral schools of America." The Rev. William Stainer, of London, said he agreed that the system pursued in the institution for the improved instruction of deaf mutes in New-York should be called American, and hoped that each weountry ould have a system that could be best applied to its own children.

A paper on "Speech Reading," by Miss Alice C.
Jennings, who is a deaf mute, was read. In it she explained the difficulty of deciphering words from the motion of the lips, and the importance of distinct articulation on the part of the teacher. The next was a paper on "Aura Instruction of the Semi-deaf," by J. A. Gillespie, principal of the Nebraska Deaf and Dumb Institution. He said there was no question that the semi-deaf mutes could be instructed to speak and to hear, and could be graduated as hard-of-hearing, speaking people.
Dr. E. M. Gallaudet, president of the National College for Deaf Mutes at Washington, expressed his gratification with results effected at the Nebraska Institution. Professor Samuel Porter, of the National College, at Washington, who is deaf, exhibited a pair of patent ears, the length of which, when he put them on, provoked much laughter.
With them he could hear without the use of an ear when he put them on, provoked much adapted. With them he could hear without the use of an ear trumpel.

Professor Bell said that he thought it was undoubtedly true that the larger proportion of the semi-deaf belonged to the class of congenital deaf. The question of how to test the hearing and what artificial arts to use was important. A hearing tube might be useful where the membrane of the ear is perfect, but where it was destroyed the hearing tube might be hurtful; but in such cases experiments might well be made with instruments like the addiphone. He thought that some more simple and handy instrument might be invented. The speaking telephone (invented by him) had been the result of experiments in regard to teaching articulation to deaf mutes. Experiments had been made in his labratory during the last two months, which tended to improvement in the articulation of the transmitter of the telephone. A young man, who was very deaf, was delighted with the articulations of the telephone, which he could hear distinctly, and he hoped that the telephone ould hereafter be made aseful in communicating with the deaf.

During the day an exhibition of articulation and his reading by Mr. Greenberger's pupils was given. At the evening session papers were read by Professor Samuel Porter, of the 'National College, on "Mute Consonants," and on "Yowel Formation," and by Paul Binner, of Wisconsin, on "Elementary Voice Traning," Professors Bell gave very interesting illustrations of the formation of vowels and the quality and tone of the voice, showing how they can be modulated.

Professors A. G. Bell, J. C. Gordon and F. Clark, were appointed a committee to recommend such tests of hearing and methods of treatment and the best interests of

OBJECTING TO WIRES UNDERGROUND.

The telegraph, telephone and electric light companies are every day having more and more interference and obstruction from the Police Department's interpretation of the law locking to the grounding of all wires. The latest complaint is by the United States Illuminating Company, No. 50 Liberty-st., two of whose employes were prevented from making a connection between the pole wire and a lamp, at Broadway and Morris-st. on Wednesday. Eugene T. Lynch, president of that company said yesterday:

A FRESH PUN KIN AT LARGE.

If Captain Curtis, of the steamship Newport, could lay his hands on Pun Kin there would not be enough left of him to make a Chatham-st, restanrant five-cent pie. This Pun Kin is a Chinaman who was forbidden to land by the Custom House officers when he arrived a few days ago. Captain Curtis placed a guard over him, but it is feared that the sailor belonged to Tammany Hall and that Pun Kin figuratively "saw" him, for the latter escaped on the second night and has not been seen since. He had the same coppery complexion, the same long queue, the same high cheek bones, and the same moon-eyes that all Chinamen have, and Captain Curtis was believed, when he said yesterday in emphatic and plain English: "The d—d Chinese, I shouldn't know him if I should see him; they all look alike." The customs officers, who can smell out any kind of goods or materials that have been smuggled ashore, have not been able to get trace of the celestial who has violated the law restricting Chinese immigration.

A NEW EXCHANGE BUILDING.

The building is to be of brick, with a basement of gray granite. The main building will be ninety-five feet high and comprise five stories. It has a front of 75 feet on Hudson-st. and 100 feet on Harrison-st. On the latter street, at the rear, will be a clock tower. 150 feet high, rising two stories above the main building, with a pointed arch roof and a flagstaff on top. The first floor is designed for stores. The Exchange room will be on the second floor. The cost of the entire building, with the land, will be $300,000. The Exchange hope to occupy their building by May 1, 1885.

that the reduction to St. Louis was made evidency to meet the opposition prices;

"Shall we follow the reduction on the Chicago rate?" he repeated," well, I cannot say what will be done, but no company can perform the service at that price without loss. This company is not giving away money, and therefore I suspect that the Mutual Union will be allowed to do all the business it can get, at the twenty-cent rate. We will do what we can for the present certainly at our former price."

AN IRISH VIEW OF THE "BOLTERS."

From The Irish Nation.

The men who call thomselves "the better element" of the Republican party—those who are now botting the nominations made in Chicago—are pre-eminently the most illiberal men in America. Their minds are narrow and incapable of expansion, and their bloodless hearts are closed to generous impulses or broad human sympathy. Their self-conceit is insufferable and only surpassed by their slavish admiration for, and imitation of, everything English. They call England "the mother country," dress after English fashions and ape the English accent and gait. They are more provincial English without the sturdy independence and full blooded manhood which are redeeming points in the mass of the English people at home.

An echo in an English church repeats twenty-one syllables. It is thought to be the only one in exist-ence which can repeat the whole of one of Joe Cook's words.—[Boston Post.

A SURE THING.

Baldness is only incurable when the hair roots are dead and absorbed, which is a rare condition. In nearly all cases they are simply torpid, and can be stimulated to put forth a new growth of hair by the use of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, the only preparation that cures baldness and restores youthful color to gray hair.

Baldness Cured and Age Rejuvenated.

J. W. Hammond, Lake Preston, D.T., when he was but 40 years old found his hair growing gray. At 50, his hair and whiskers were entirely white. So they continued until he reached 90 years of age, they have been been using Ayer's Hair Vigor, three bottles of which sufficed to restore their original rich, dark brown color.

Mes. August Valentine, of Buffalo, N. Y., had become nearly baid, and though she made use of many of the so-called hair restorers, none had any effect. Ayer's Hair Vigor, had become nearly baid, and though she made use of many of the so-called hair restorers, none had any effect. Ayer's Hair Vigor did what nothing else could do, and now the lady again has a fine head of hair, thanks entirely to it.

Geo. Mayer, Flatonia, Tezas, presented an apparently hopeless case. Baidness was hereditary in his family. By the time he was 23 years old he haid scarcely any hair left. One bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor started a soft, downy growth all over his scalp, and in a few months his head was covered with soft, dark and abundant hair.

Medicinal Virtues.
